The Future Element

We finally started designing a strategic plan for schools participating in our "Future Element" Youth Destiny Program. Administrators at Serrania Elementary School in Woodland Hills, CA have agreed to plan and implement a program that will promote addiction-free living in the community through education, engagement, and empowerment. We encourage everyone to participate in helping our youth shape their future and make a choice to build an a green and clean environment. Creating Addiction-Free zones is a trademark service at Beckman Consulting Worldwide. We need all of your support to carry our message to the youth and provide a safe place for them to send their unique messages to the world. Click below for more details and please donate what you can to our program. With your help they can achieve their dreams and fulfill their destiny.
